Fifty Years of Progress

At Lynchburg College

FOREWORD

Lynchburg College began its golden anniversary celebration April 17 by remembering the handful of pioneer churchmen and educators who came to Lynchburg fifty years ago to found a Christian College.

In 1903 Dr. Hopwood, founder and president of Milligan College, Tenn., received a letter from his former pupil, the Rev. F. F. Bullard, concerning the location and possible sale of Westover Hotel. In mid-April Dr. Hopwood and a small group of friends, finding the location suitable, decided to purchase Westover Hotel as a basic unit for the college, chartered in 1903 as Virginia Christian College.

During the following summer, extensive innovations in the physical layout of the building were made to adapt it to the needs of the student body of V.C.C.

Dr. Hopwood reported, "Changes in the basement were made first. The saloon was converted into kitchen, storeroom and dining hall. On the first floor the elegant dance hall was changed into a Chapel. One-half of the space on the first floor furnished abundant classrooms, parlors and reception halls. The girls went up the elegant stairway at one end of the hall, the young men at the other. A partition was put in the center of the large hallway on the second floor. The teachers' rooms were placed near the center of the building. By this time the house was comfortable, convenient, and all seemed one great happy family."

DR. AND MRS. JOSEPHUS HOPWOOD

September, 1903, found ten teachers and 155 students on hand for the opening session of the college. Eight students graduated in 1904. Board, room and tuition were sixteen dollars per month for students who came "in search of industrial, moral, mental, physical and spiritual training and education for young white persons of both sexes."

After Dr. Hopwood's resignation in 1910, a debt crisis arose and the total enrollment of V.C.C. dropped to 45 students. In 1911, Dr. S. T. Willis was named second president. He resigned the following year to be followed by Dr. G. O. Davis. Then Dr. G. P.

Coler, vice president, took over the reins of administration in June, 1914, but he died in April, 1915.

In 1914, Dr. J. T. T. Hundley became the school's financial representative. In June, 1915, he was named fourth president, and with indomitable courage led the college through one of its blackest periods.

The name "Lynchburg College" was adopted in 1919 as the church area served by the college was enlarged to include Maryland, District of Columbia, and Florida.

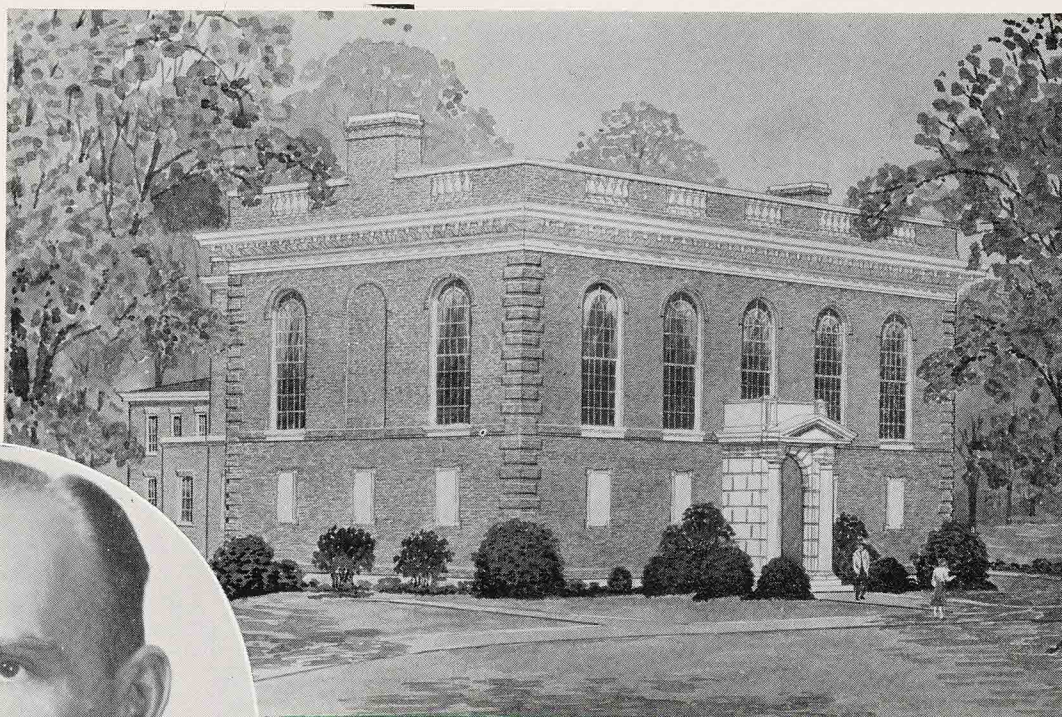

Through the efforts of Dr. Hundley and Dr. Riley B. Montgomery, who succeeded him in 1936, expansion of facilities was continued, academic program was improved, honor system was inaugurated, and the guidance program broadened.

During the administration of Dr. Montgomery, the large debt which had accumulated during the depression was liquidated, and the enrollment reached a peak of 741 students.

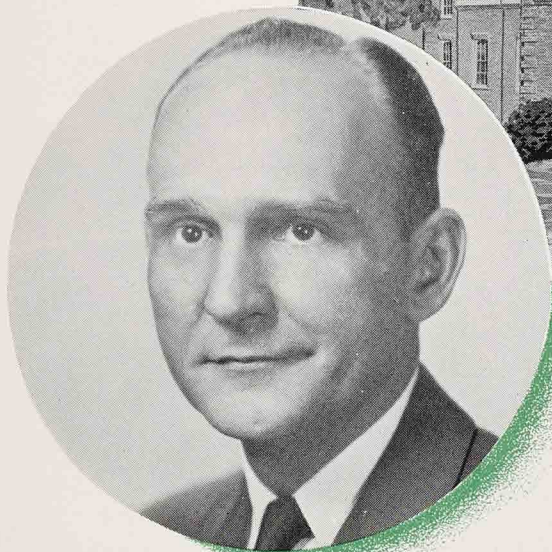

In 1949, Dr. Orville W. Wake, current president, succeeded Dr. Montgomery. Under his able leadership, Lynchburg College has launched a curriculum study and a building program. On April 17, as a part of the fiftieth anniversary celebration, ground breaking ceremonies were held for a new woman's dormitory and a library. These will prove to be valuable additions to the facilities which have been developed since the purchase of the Westover Hotel.

DR. ORVILLE W. WAKE

In this fiftieth year, students faculty and administration look backward with pride in the college's progress, and look forward with assurance of continued success. With this thought in mind, we present our theme, "FIFTY YEARS OF PROGRESS."

DEDICATION

As we begin our second half century, there is one among us who above all others expresses the spirit which is Lynchburg College. We are continually challenged by his faith in our potentialities, inspired by his hope for our future, and moved by his concern for each student as an individual.

With this in mind, we gratefully dedicate the 1953 ARGONAUT to one under whose leadership our college is experiencing its greatest expansion program since its founding in 1903; to one who has been student, dean, and now president, DR. ORVILLE W. WAKE.

President of the College

This year your alma mater is fifty years old. It is entering into a new era of strength and service. Upon graduation each member of this class will enter into a new period of growth and development. In the years immediately ahead both you and your college can do much to increase understanding and to make the ideals of Christianity effective in our world. Let us use our new strength and greater maturity to this end.

THESE DAYS THE FACULTY ARE INVENTING THEIR OWN

We don't need Edison at L.C. . . . we have our faculty.

Mrs. Smallwood and her miniature "hypo" needle . . . Mr. Stanger and his "how-to-get-to-Heaven-quick" method . . . Coaches plan new strategy for the marble tourney with RMWC . . . Mr. Hailey and Pres. Wake inspecting their new "foot-long" toothpick.

In Memoriam

MRS. SOPHRONIA BURRELL

It is not often that we realize the contributions of our unseen staff members, who are so necessary to the wholeness of our college. This year L.C. lost two veteran workers, better known to us as "Miss Peachie" and "Mr. Ernest." Ernest Ross gave twenty-eight years of faithful service to the college, and Mrs. Burrell served for ten years in the kitchen of Westover.

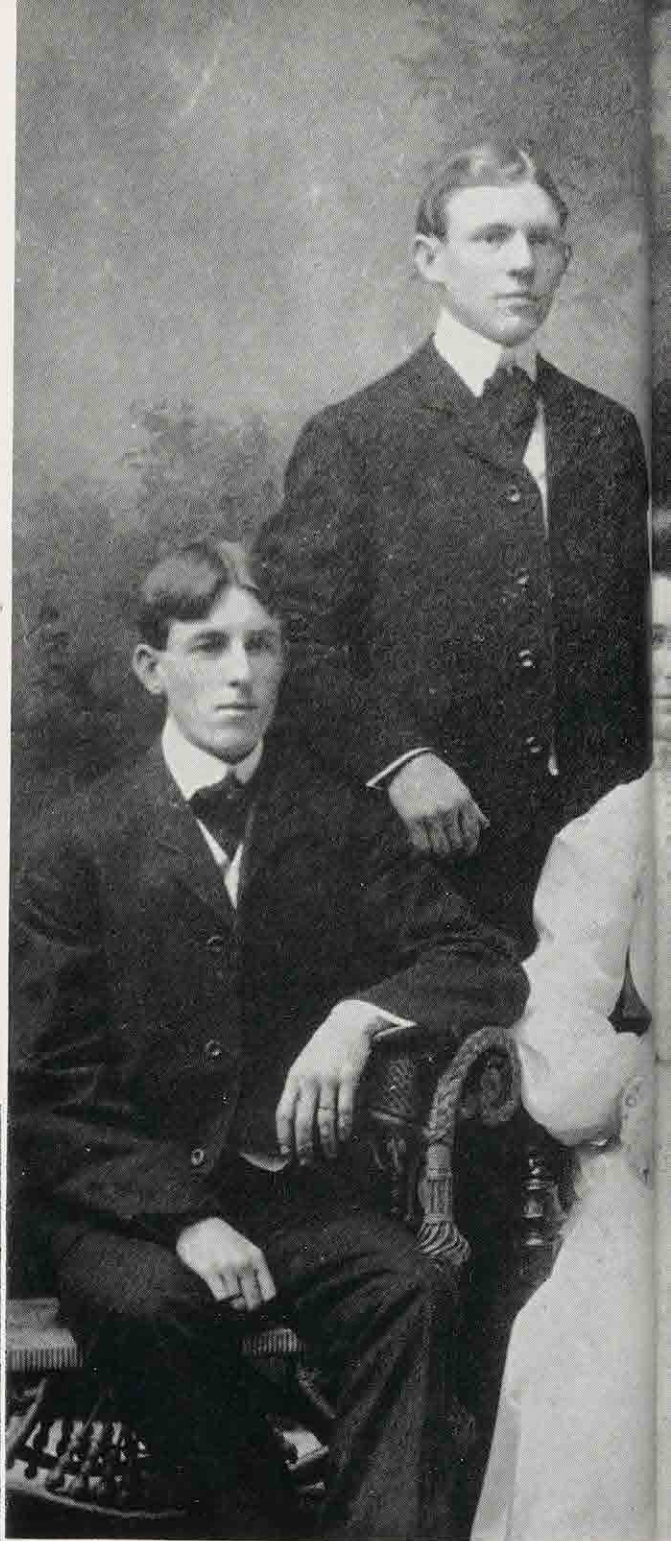

We wish to dedicate this page to the memory of these two staff members who served our college so faithfully. They will be remembered by many students, faculty, and friends of the college.

COACHES

Under the leadership of our very able coaches, the athletic program at L.C. is a prominent part of the school year. The college presents a varied program which reaches the needs of many students. Through intercollegiate sports and an outstanding intramural program, ideals of clean play and fine sportsmanship become important in the life of each student.

This year the Varsity team had a fairly even season, winning ten and losing eleven of their games.

The Hornets were under the capable leadership of co-captains Donnie Bowles and Raine Sydnor. Backing these were seniors Dolly Johnson and Eddie Woolridge, underclassmen Vernon Howerton, "Sonny" Freeborn, Lloyd Gibson, and two freshman stars Warren Mitchell and Ken Burnette.

Burnette led the scoring with 303 points and also the foul shooting with a 72.4 average. He was followed by Mitchell with 249 points.

The college will suffer a loss due to the graduation of both the co-captains and the two senior men. Next year's team will miss their fighting spirit on the basketball court.

The Baby Hornets completed an impressive season under the direction of their new coach, Rut Moon. They won 9 games and lost 7.

CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders are a vital part of our athletic program. Their activities include leading yells at home varsity and JV basketball games, publicizing these contests, and sponsoring a pep rally.

This year their interests widened, and included a fashion review with original styles dating back to the founding of the college.

Under the direction of Miss Parker and Pat Baker our cheerleaders contribute much to L.C. spirit.

THE IMPRINT OF PRIDE

*P*RINTING is the great constructive force of the modern civilized world. It plays the indispensable part in the dissemination of news, in the expression and progression of political ideals, in the records and exchange of commerce and industry. It democratizes education, science, art, music—and broadens the scope of everything it touches. ¶To appreciate its high place in the esteem of an enlightened world, PRINTING MUST BE WELL DONE.
